Sales Manager Vacancy Semiconductor Fabrication Equipment & Materials

December 2018

Inseto is looking to recruit a specialist full time Sales Manager to develop and grow the Company's Semiconductor manufacturing equipment and material sales throughout the UK, Ireland and Nordic regions.

The products include wafers, mask aligners, coaters, developers, wafer bonders, plasma systems, metrology systems, probe stations and furnaces etc. The successful candidate would ideally have previous sales experience of high precision equipment used in semiconductor manufacturing and research.

This role will involve extensive travel to customers throughout the UK, Ireland & Nordic region, plus visits to our global supply chain for customer demonstrations, training and other meetings etc.

The successful candidate should be a self-motivated, conscientious and professional individual, who will complement our team and further enhance the Company's profile.

The position has a competitive salary and benefits package, plus the potential to develop within the Company.

Please contact Inseto for further details:
